Meet Amelia Earhart

Amelia Earhart was born in Atchison, Kansas on July 24, 1897. As a young girl, she loved going on new adventures. At seven years old, she built a homemade roller coaster with her sister, Muriel. After it crashed, she stated, "That was just like flying!" When Amelia was only 10 years old, she saw one of the Wright Brothers' airplanes at the Iowa State Fair. Then, on December 28, 1920, something happened that changed her life forever... Amelia went on her first airplane ride with pilot Frank Hawks. They took a 10-minute flight over Los Angeles. It was after that first flight that Amelia knew she was born to fly!

Amelia saved her money to take flying lessons and became the 16th woman to receive her pilot's license. Her first plane was nicknamed "The Canary" because it was bright yellow and lit up the sky as she flew past.

On June 18, 1928, Amelia Earhart made history! She took off from Newfoundland with two other pilots and landed 21 hours later in Wales, United Kingdom. At that point, she became the first woman to fly across the Atlantic Ocean.

When Amelia returned back to the United States, she became a hero! Amelia continued to make solo flights and set many world records. In 1932, Amelia was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross from Congress for flying solo across the Atlantic Ocean. During her lifetime also gave many speeches about equal rights for women.

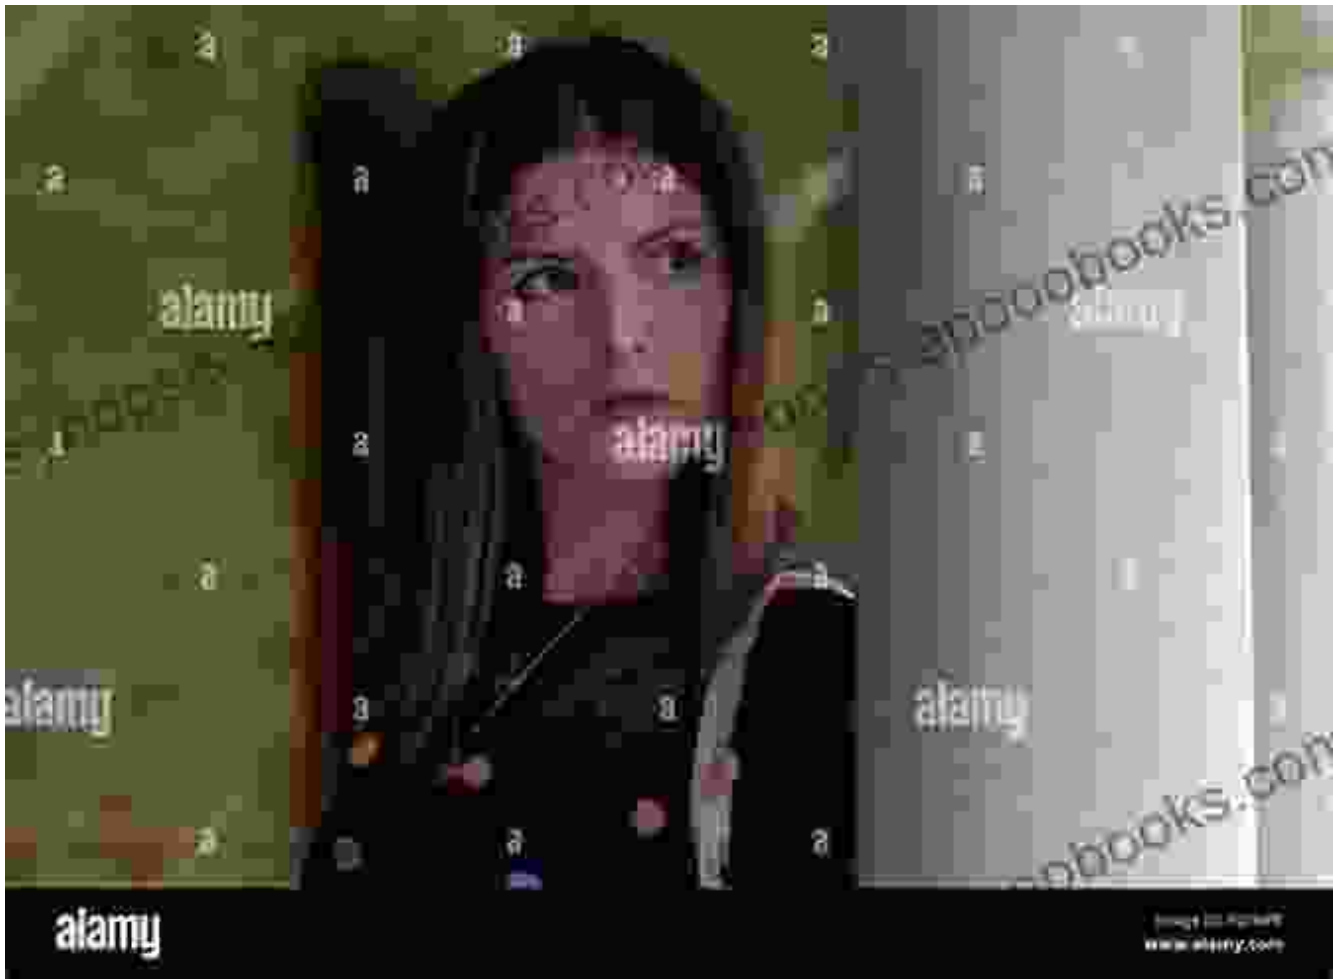

For her next mission, she wanted to be the first woman to circumnavigate the globe. On June 1, 1937, Amelia and navigator Fred Noonan left Florida on a course set for California by traveling around the world. Sadly, a month later her plane lost radio contact and she was never heard from again.

Today, Amelia Earhart is remembered as one of the bravest women in history. Her adventurous spirit and dedication to equal rights for women continues to be an inspiration to many.
